

Joy Ikede’s work as a sessional instructor and International Student Advisor at the University of Prince Edward Island saw her recognized as a “Founder of the University.” Her volunteer work focused on women’s rights, multiculturalism, and race relations.